Hymen Captures Two of Babbitts' Force

On Saturday evening at 7:30, with the aid of Rev. W. H. Zook, Miss Beulah M. Worrell became Mrs. E. C. F. Wilson, and the happy couple left that same evening to spend a couple of days at Grand Canyon, returning the first of this week to the Mansion House, where they will make their home, and to the Babbitt general office, where both are employed, Mr. Wilson in the accounting department and the bride as private secretary to P. J. Moran.

Mr. Wilson has been here for several months, Mrs. Wilson not quite as long, both have made many friends here who unite in wishing them God-speed in their new venture. The following, written by the poet laureate of the Babbitt offices, with its string of signatures, and a handsome wedding present, were handed the newly married couple just after the ceremony:

To Mr. and Mrs. E. C. F. Wilson:
The Babbitt office employees
Whose names is wrote below,
As a wedding present offer these,
They're "SO handy, don't you know?"

At dining with you we'll take turns,
We thank you for the invite;
But "watch your step," that nothing burns,
For that would not look right.

We wish you many, many joys,
And lots and lots of bliss,
And hope the first six kids are boys,
With now and then a Miss.

St. Margaret's Guild

Be all ready for the evening of the 28th, for the ladies of St. Margaret's Guild are anxious to have you see Thomas Meighan in his latest picture, "The Conquest of Canaan."

This is one of Booth Tarkington's stories and the film production is complete in its fidelity to the scenes. Mr. Tarkington made many pertinent suggestions which helped to catch the proper atmosphere. Asheville, N. C. staged the film production and the town took on a carnival air while the cast of 6,000 worked on it.

A special matinee will be run at the usual hour.

Wm. H. Peirce Now An Octogenarian

Wm. H. Peirce, whose patriarchal presence loaned dignity o' summers to the entrance to the Cliff Dwellings for many years, was guest of honor in his home here on Saturday at a wonderful dinner Mrs. Peirce prepared in celebration of his erect and stalwart arrival at his 80th mile-post. The dinner began at five and some of those who were privileged to partake of it were on Monday still smacking their lips in pleasant retrospect. Those who helped Mr. and Mrs. Peirce enfold the banquet were: Captain and Mrs. E. M. Robinson, Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Zook, Judge S. B. Gilliland, James Haley, Mr. and Mrs. Lorren Savage, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Beeson and Mrs. S. W. Hodgson.

The Ever Blessed Season

Once each year we stop long enough to remember that years ago the peace that heralded the Savior's birth lay over the earth.

Sometimes in the hurry of our materialistic life we forget the message such an event brought, but the community spirit fostered by Flagstaff's first big gathering will perhaps help us more than ever this year to bring about the spirit and the letter such a season should cultivate in each and every one.

Come out Sunday night at six o'clock and help with your voice to swell the mighty chorus that will be sung. Everyone will be there and the carols should go with a vim.

Don't forget your Christmas candle on Saturday evening. Put it in the window for the Camp Fire Girls will see it and they will carol for you on that night.

The churches are all planning to celebrate the Christmas season.

Social Service

The circle of social service workers met on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Ed Babbitt and completed their busy preparations for the work which has so occupied their minds for the last few months since deciding to help all those so in need of it.

A goodly number of things now await distribution, thanks to the efforts of those interested and the final distribution will shortly be made. Food, clothing and toys were gladly and generously donated and all will have a pleasanter feeling when the Christmas morn is ushered in.

Birthday Affair

Quite the most felicitous affair of the week was the birthday surprise last Tuesday night at the Hillebrandt home on Birch street.

The friends of Miss Catherine were very quiet in their advance on the enemy and succeeded in making a splendid attack. The unsuspecting victim, quietly reading in a cozy arm chair was compelled to come forward and play the part of hostess which she most hospitably did for the remainder of the evening to her group of sixteen friends.

It surely was an evening's fun, games of every description, music dancing and everything that contributes to a royal good time. Mrs. Hillebrandt had not forgotten the real contributions to a birthday affair so at a seasonable hour, lovely and appetizing refreshments were served with the usual birthday cake and its accompanying candles.

Gifts were admired and at last the following guests bid their hostess adieu: The Misses Velma Gunn, Delpha Thompson, Margaret Walker, Florence Norman, Violet Raudebaugh, Agnes Switzer, Margaret and Martha Stahl, Bertha McCormick, Mary Wilson, Hazel Allsup, Bessie Benson, Mildred Dunn, and Anne Amelia Noble.

Friendly Meets for Jolly Time

Last Saturday evening found 75 friendly spirits gathered in the Elks hall to celebrate the conclusion of the fall work which has been so successfully carried on. The associate members, including Mrs. Becker, Mrs. Pollock, Mrs. Lusk, Mrs. Isham and Mrs. Brown, had well planned their entertainment.

The first hours were given over to the little tots and their friends who played a number of delicious games under the leadership of Mrs. Brown and Miss Ardelle Switzer. The latter part of the evening was given over to the entertainment committee of the society with Miss Mabel Hall as chairman. Her ukelele selections were peppy and found a warm welcome to the audience's heart. Miss Dorothy Griffith's stories were more charming than usual while no program is complete in these busy days without some time given over to the Christmas carols.

A delicious little repast was served the seventy-five guests and the Girl's Friendly have even a more friendly feeling towards their sponsors, the associate members.

Lovely Christmas Party

Last Saturday afternoon found not only "an every member" present canvass thoroughly performed but a number of new members and guests.

What a lovely party it was! Christmas spirit was in evidence in the "glad to be here" feeling that every one possessed. The hostess, Mrs. J. C. Kelly had made the house festive with Christmas greens and the shaded lights together with the pretty Christmas tree left nothing to be desired.

Business was first disposed of by the chairman. Roll call by the secretary brought forth many new items of the musical world; the minutes revealed all bills paid and a small amount in the treasury. Mrs. J. C. Clarke made a most entertaining report about the recent musical program given by the department at the Orpheum.

Over eighty dollars had been cleared and this on a motion by Mrs. Charlebois was donated to the building fund. Mrs. Jackson, as member of the music department, felt quite gratified that the section had made such a substantial gift to the fund for the new club house which is now an assured fact since the purchase of the lots.

Mrs. Miller had the program for the afternoon in charge and everyone voted it one of the very best programs of the year. The topic, "Christmas Music," was taken up. Mrs. Ives read a most interesting paper on the Community Christmas and its inception. Mrs. Mitchell told of various Christmas carols and later Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Mitchell sang charmingly not only some old favorites, but gave interpretations of them from the standpoint of the various nations. Mrs. Miller then told of the "Messiah" and its wonderful composer, Handel. Mrs. U. J. Lewis sang a wonderful contralto solo from it which was unusually well suited to her voice. Mrs. Pierson and Mrs. Miller sang a closing number and the social hour was given over to Mrs. Kelly, the hostess, who in true Santa Claus style distributed gifts to each present. My, how proud the little folks were with their guns, dolls, mechanical toys and musical instruments.

Little bags of candy made it seem a real Christmas affair and when the carols sounded forth the afternoon was complete.

The practice for the big community tree celebration concluded the afternoon.

NORMAL SCHOOL NOTES

President McMullen returned Tuesday night after spending three days in the valley. On Monday he attended the meeting of the state board of education at Phoenix, going to Tempe that night where he spent the night with president Mathews of Tempe Normal. Tuesday morning he visited the Flagstaff Normal's basketball girls who are there on their valley trip.

Tuesday the president had a conference with Mr. Baechus, secretary to the governor, in regard to the budget for the normal which is to be presented to the special session of the legislature. The president said that due to the strictest economy the school is able to show a decided saving in the amount granted by the legislature of 1921.

Mr. McMullen went Tuesday evening to Glendale in time to see the last half of the basketball game there between the Flagstaff Normal girls and Glendale high. He said that he claims the victory that Flagstaff made in this game because when he arrived at the end of the first half the score was 10 to 9 in Flagstaff's favor and in the second half he witnessed the making of 26 points by our girls while the Glendale girls made 2.

Up to this time the girls had played three of their five games with Tempe high, Mesa high and Glendale high schools. Flagstaff won against Tempe and Glendale and lost to Mesa. The unbiased Tempe girls according to president McMullen, said that the Flagstaff girls played circles around the Mesa girls but could not seem to put the ball through the basket as they usually do. At the end of the first half the score was 4 to 4 and the game ended with a score of 10 to 13.

Wednesday the Flagstaff girls played Tempe Normal and today they are to play Florence high.

The team from Flagstaff is making its headquarters at the Tempe Normal and every one of the girls are enthusiastic about the treatment they have received there.

The Tempe people have shown a very marked spirit of hospitality and a generous nature toward our Flagstaff Normal people. When the football team played in the valley they were specially invited to visit the Tempe normal and to spend the night there after playing at Mesa and now the girls are all equated with the attentions they have received.

Wednesday night Christmas programs were given in Ashurst auditorium by the normal and training school students.

The training school's program came at 8 o'clock. The rail in front of the stage was decorated with cedars and pines, and candles with a gray background for the setting of the scene. All the windows and woodwork of the auditorium were also decorated with the green and lighted by candles. This "candle service," participated in by about 140 training school pupils, was very pretty and exceedingly well given. It also represented a lot of work by the critic and student teachers.

The Normal students gave "The Dawn of Redemption," a story of the Nativity. The play was very beautiful and well given. About twenty-five took part in the play while a large group of girls and boys from Miss Walsh's music classes sang beautiful Christmas songs from behind the scenes.

Miss Dewey supervised the complete program, the directing of the plays, making of costumes and all arrangements. She deserves credit for the success.

Monday evening in the Ashurst auditorium the boys basketball team met the Indian team from Leupp, winning by a score of 55 to 17. The first quarter was exceptionally fast and well played by both sides ending with a score of 11 to 11. After that the Normal fellows had a literal walk away with the score. The Indians played hard, but did not display the team work or the knowledge of basketball that the Normal team showed.

Mr. Drake was enthusiastic over the results of the game as he did not really have any hopes of his team winning. From all reports and the general quality of the teams that Leupp produces he does not think that the Normal was in their class and merely accepted the game with them for the practice and the points he expected his team to get from them.

The line-up for the Normal was: Sanford and Gregg, forwards; Anderson, center; Hamblin and Campbell, guards; Marine, substitute. Leupp was: Howard and Spencer, forwards; Salas, center; Curley and Chase, guards.

On Tuesday last week Mrs. T. E. Pollock entertained her Sunday school class and the Normal Christmas graduating class at her home.

After a delightful dinner the guests retired to the living room where some logs were heaped on the fire and the lights were arranged so that the entire scene was entirely charming. Here the girls had a novel form of entertainment and some very wonderful music by Miss Frost until someone reluctantly realized that it was time to go home.

Those present were: Lucile Wilder, Zoe Glassey, Ruth Burns, Delina Calhoun, Lillian Frost, Mrs. Roger Morse, Mrs. Osler, Miss Leah Sanford, Miss Alice Brown, Mabel Hall, Gladys McPhaul, Stella Mae Carson, Dorothy Griffith, Jennie Willard, Thelma Pexton and Ruth Johnson.

Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Walker were host and hostess at just a regular chicken dinner given in honor of the Christmas graduating class of the Normal. After the dinner, which was enjoyed to the fullest extent by all, the afternoon was spent in having a good time in which all said that Mr. Walker is a good entertainer and he and his wife lovely host and hostess.

Tuesday evening a number of the Normal faculty went to Doney Park where some of them gave a program and Mr. Stevenson made a talk on the extension department of the Normal.

Miss Wilkey gave a piano solo and Mr. Ridgley, the invincible violinist, some wonderful interpretations. Miss Julian and Miss Dewey gave readings that were enthusiastically received. Miss Lattimer, Mr. Drake and Mr. Gunter who won reputations for dramatic ability at the faculty dinner gave the same play entitled "Food."

Mrs. Drake gave a beautiful dance. Then Mr. Stevenson gave his address. This is a new branch of the commercial department that the Normal is offering as a correspondence course to those who do not have the opportunity to attend classes. It is desired to get the people of the surrounding communities interested and to show them the value of this opportunity. The plans are to organize classes in as many as possible of these outlying districts and carry on the work mostly through correspondence with Mr. Stevenson making occasional visits to supervise, inspect and help with personal instructions.
